

ALA., ARK. VOTE 3 TO 2 FOR REPEAL

by populous counties. The vote at 10:30 p. m. C. S. T. representing 96 counties out of 67 in the state, with 1,804 boxes reported out of 2,137, stood: For repeal 63,958; against 41,534.

Charles E. Rice, chairman of the forces opposing repeal of the 18th amendment in Alabama, tonight conceded that the fight was lost in today's election, but that he expected the repeal majority to be reduced by returns yet to be reported.

"My judgment is that later returns will increase our vote in proportion to the repeal vote, but the additional ballots in any event won't be enough for us to win," Rice said.

"The state prohibition laws are still on the statute books."

This vote represented half of the boxes in Jefferson county and a good portion of Mobile and Montgomery counties. The more heavily populated counties consistently returned majorities in favor of repeal.

There seemed little doubt that the state would definitely join those voting for repeal of the 18th amendment, binding the 116 delegates selected today in the same election to vote as a unit for ratification of the 21st amendment on August 8.

Four state constitutional amendments voted on in the same election held commanding majorities with the vigorously contested income tax and $20,000,000 warrant issue proposal pulling steadily out in front.

Both had been made the subject of state-wide campaigns, with Governor R. M. Miller taking the stump in a three-week tour in behalf of the two issues as a part of his fiscal program to place the state on a cash basis.

The income tax and warrant issue proposals were decisively defeated last November and were re-submitted by the special session of the legislature early this year after a bitter and prolonged fight by a matter of one or two years.

The vote from 966 boxes gave for the income tax 53,697, against 35,834. For the warrant issue 778 boxes gave for 44,229; against 21,530.

ARKANSAS GOES WET
BY 3 TO 2 VOTE
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 18.—(P)—By a majority of more than three to two on the basis of tabulations of two-thirds or more of the total vote, Arkansas went on record today in favor of repealing the eighth amendment, a result which Postmaster General James A. Farley predicted would mean the doom of national prohibition by Christmas.

Returns tonight from 1,027 precincts out of 2,103 in the state, including the most populous centers, gave 52,057 for repeal and 34,193 against repeal.

The Rev. Arden P. Blalock, Baptist minister here and one of the state prohibition leaders, said in a statement on the returns tonight that "With the going of Arkansas and Alabama for repeal of the 18th amendment, it is practically assured that it will serve as a boomerang on our, the Democratic party."

Dr. A. C. Miller, head of the Arkansas Anti-Saloon League and a nationally known dry leader, said only that "Complete election returns are not yet in and I have nothing to say at this time."

Though Arkansas remains "as dry as a camel's tonsils" according to an opinion by its attorney general, a move was started tonight for an immediate special session of the legislature to legalize beer, which now is being sold openly in Little Rock and other cities.

H. K. Toney, speaker of the house of representatives, said at Pine Bluff he would come to Little Rock tomorrow and seek to confer with Governor Futrell and legislative leaders to urge an immediate session to legalize beer and tax it for school purposes.

Arkansas has a "bone dry" law, which has been in effect since 1916. Governor Futrell said at his home at Paragould, where he cast his vote, that he had no statement to make at this time.

Under the law setting up the machinery for the referendum, the convention is bound as a unit to cast the state's vote for or against repeal in accordance with the statewide result of the balloting.

Should there be a majority of the convention delegates elected against repeal and the referendum show a majority for repeal, dry leaders have intimated they would contest this provision of the referendum act.

From the first returns from Upperhill precinct in the voting, the ballots have shown a majority for repeal with the breach continually widening. The first precinct voted 44 to 1 for repeal, the lone vote being cast by an election official's wife.

Slovaktown, near Stuttgart, voted 100 per cent for repeal. There were 170 votes cast. One citizen there expressed himself as in favor of prohibition but he stayed at home or changed his mind. Party leaders there have announced their intention of telegraphing President Roosevelt of their vote.

Casey was taken to Grady hospital in the ambulance of Howard L. Carmichael, of East Point, and died shortly afterward. Nature of the argument between McDade and Casey was not revealed. Casey was employed at South convict camp by the county. McDade is being held without bond.

Casey lived at 506 Whitehall terrace. In addition to his wife, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Casey; his grandfather, J. F. Burdette; two sisters, Mrs. W. C. ## ICKES AND DERN SPLIT ON PROGRAM OF ARMY BUILDING war department's request to the public works administration for an allocation for army housing, motorization and mechanization, is misleading. I was not satisfied with the action that I anticipated was about to be taken by the board and therefore asked that further consideration be dropped until a subsequent meeting."

Dern said the American army was seventeenth in size among the armies of the world, and that he favored making it "the most modern and effective military organization possible" without enlarging it.

He added that allocations to the army from the public works fund were "justified" because the projects were ready to start and would put many men to work, they would be widely scattered, the housing program would be partly self-liquidating and the mechanization work would furnish employment to skilled mechanics in the centers of population and during the winter.

The public works administration made no new allocations today and there were strong indications that difficulty was being experienced in cutting down the estimates for public buildings, rivers and harbors and flood control projects.

BARNETT LOSES TALMADGE FIGHT

sued the following statement clarifying his position:

In consenting to a suit to be filed the governor reserved all legal rights under the law, and the governor and those acting under his immediate orders cannot be made subject to mandamus and injunction. These rights were not surrendered, and will be protected under martial law no matter what suits are filed.

In denying the applications against the governor and his co-defendants, the court took under advisement the defense plea for dismissal of both petitions.

Company Turned Down.

In addition to the ousted highway commissioners' petition, the court also turned down the application of the Beckham-Lawlor Construction Company, of Perry, Ga., which is completing a federal aid project in Glynn county and which the company claimed was jeopardized by the martial law rule of the highway department.

Captain Barnett said Tuesday night there would be no delay in bringing the case before the state courts.

He said he had had no opportunity since the federal court rendered its decision to confer with his attorneys and consequently could not give details of the action to be filed. He said he would see the lawyers today.

In the Barnett-Vereen case, the court said:

"The question of the governor's powers are primarily questions of state law and ought to be settled in the state tribunals," adding that the ousted commissioners had no property right in their positions and that therefore the court as a court of equity could not intervene. The court also pointed out that the amended pleadings of the governor said that they would be given the opportunity to take their case into the state courts.

"Reluctant to Interfere."

In the Beckham-Lawlor case the court said that federal courts are reluctant to interfere with the machinery of state government" and added that the contractor had no vested property rights in the contracts and that the court could not act as a court of equity.

In this case, the court pointed out that the plaintiffs had failed to show where they had suffered irreparable damage or to show that such damage was imminent.

The cases were taken under advisement at 1 o'clock and the decision recorded by Judge Dean Steward, clerk of the court, at 3:40 o'clock.

Judges Sibley, Grubb and Underwood began their study of the facts and law after hearing the concluding arguments by G. Ed Maddox, of Rome, and B. P. Gambrell, of Atlanta, for the plaintiffs, and Marion Smith and Assistant Attorney General B. D. Murphy for Governor Talmadge and his co-defendants.

The evidence and early arguments were submitted to the court Monday.

Four Contests Are Assured In Primary on September 20

W. F. MOORE.

ARTHUR H. SCOTT.

Four contests were assured in the September 20 primary when nominations will be made for 21 municipal posts.

Qualification of W. F. Moore, attorney, to oppose Councilman John Owen, of the sixth ward, insured contests for the fourth place. Previously contests had been registered for council nomination from the third ward and for alderman from the ninth and thirteenth wards.

In addition, three others formally entered the primary Tuesday. Hugh E. Lyndon, for many years connected with the A. & W. P. railway, for alderman from the ninth ward; W. Zode Smith, veteran general manager of the waterworks system, and Arthur H. Scott, attorney, for membership on the board of education from the sixth ward to succeed Mrs. Julia O'Keefe Nelson, who will not offer for another term.

Lyndon will oppose Councilman Homer C. Foster, seeking the ninth ward nomination, and Gilver Haller, both of whom already have qualified.

Moore has been a citizen of the sixth ward since 1921. He has been treasurer of the local Disabled American War Veterans' chapter for two years. He is 38 years of age.

In announcing, he said he would devote his attention to an economic promotion of the public school system, the police and fire departments as is consistent with economy to taxpayers. He also said he will stand for adequate pay to municipal employees for services rendered.

Lyndon has lived in Atlanta 45 years and has been connected with the A. & W. P. railway for the past 22 years. He is a passenger conductor, and for 15 years he has been chairman of the committee on adjustment for the railway and its employees.

He is a member of the Order of Railroad Conductors and a director of the Railway Y. M. C. A.

Scott, a salesman, is prominently connected in the sixth ward and thus far is unopposed. He has been a leading figure in civic and political circles for many years. He is a native of the ward, his family having lived in the same house there since 1869. He was educated at Luckie Street school, Tech High school when it was located in the sixth ward, and the Georgia School of Technology.

Smith has been connected with the waterworks department since it was in its infancy, and has been general manager for more than a score of years. He is as yet unopposed.

Lyndon said he would stay in the race until "the last vote is counted" and announced that his friends will form a club to push his candidacy at a meeting to be held at 8 o'clock Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Pearl Ware, 1168 St. Augustine place.

PROFESSOR ADMITS WHIPPING STUDENT 9 TIMES IN DAY
WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., July 18.—(P)—Professor Theodore Rondthaler, who whipped a 13-year-old boy nine times in one day as an example to other pupils, pleaded nolo contendere in superior court today to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon and judgment was suspended upon payment of the costs.

Judge Clayton Moore, before whom the case was heard, said he was "sure the defendant" as suffered more mentally than the plaintiff was physically, and ordered the boy removed from the docket when the costs were paid.

Rondthaler did not deny any of the testimony of Lee Lashmit, Clemons Consolidated school pupil, who testified he was whipped before nine different classes last May 4 because he scratched another pupil's name on the side of a school bus.

The professor, a son of Dr. Howard Rondthaler, president of Salem College here, told the court through his counsel that he was inexperienced in administering corporal punishment, that his action was "an error of judgment" and that he held no malice toward the boy.

Five Young Bandits Given Terms on Gang
Prison sentences ranging from 6 to 20 years were meted out to five young white men by Judge E. E. Pomeroy in Fulton superior court Tuesday morning, after they had entered pleas of guilty of robbery. Jack Green and Murray Summers were given 20 years each as second offenders for the robbery of the store of J. Brown, 498 Whitehall street, several weeks ago in which they obtained $88 in cash. Howard Rice and Luther Doss were given 12 to 15 years each, and D. F. Vandiver was given from 6 to 10 years for the robbery of the H. W. Andrews store at 886 W. 12th street recently. The trio obtained only $1.49 in the raid. The men ranged in age from 20 to 24 years.

TEA ROOM IS OPENED ON PEACHTREE STREET

SILVER, COPPER QUESTION REVIVED

U. S. Delegates Throw Up Barrier Against Injection of Debts

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER.
LONDON, July 18.—(P)—The American delegation to the world economic conference today laid the groundwork for regulation of copper production, struggled to extricate its proposals for rehabilitating silver from a new deadlock and threw up a fresh barrier against possible injection again of the war debts issue.

Meanwhile the American wheat delegation, working in the margin of the parley, pushed their negotiations for wheat acreage restriction nearer to a successful conclusion.

The war debt safety brake was clamped on by Senator James Connors, of Michigan, who succeeded in attaching to a resolution dealing with international debts a clause specifying that intergovernmental debts were not included.

The debt proposals, presented jointly by Great Britain, France, Italy and Rumania, announced in substance that countries signatory agreed in principle that debts between nations should be paid but that the problem should be dealt with in such a manner as not to impair credit.

In its original form the resolution did not mention war debts one way or the other but Senator Connors insisted, successfully, that this issue should be eliminated decisively by inserting a negative clause in the document.

The first definite step for continuing the work of the conference after the final plenary session July 27 was taken by the American delegation in offering a resolution urging countries which produce copper to submit their

MISSISSIPPI LYNCHING

IS SHELVED BY COURT

LOUISVILLE, Miss., July 18.—(AP)—Trial of 17 residents of Choctaw and Winston counties, charged with the mob slaying of a negro, Reuben Minou, after he allegedly engaged in an altercation with one of the group, has been indefinitely postponed. The charges yesterday were remanded to the files when called for trial and after the 17 men pleaded not guilty. They were indicted by the Winston county grand jury two weeks ago. Court attaches said the case would probably never come to trial.

U. S. WILL HASTEN COTTON PLOWING

Government Reveals Plan Where Plants May Be Destroyed at once.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—(AP)—Farm administrators today made public a plan under which cotton farmers who signed agreements to curtail their output this year will be permitted to plow up portions of their fields without having to wait for formal acceptance of their offers.

The action was taken to permit farmers in some of the cotton producing areas where climatic conditions are favorable immediately to plant feed crops for home consumption.

Telegrams. This telegram was sent to county agents notifying them of the new plan. "The secretary of agriculture has authorized acceptance and approval of all producer contracts where same are approved by county agent and county committee."

Newspaper Advertising Boosts Dallas Tax Flow

DALLAS, Texas, July 18.—(UP)—The potency of advertising was manifested in a novel way recently here when County Tax Collector Fred Cullum appealed to taxpayers for payments in a newspaper advertising campaign. The result was that collections for June, 1933, surpassed those for June, 1932, by $80,471.

mit blanks should reach you Friday. "In no event shall producer begin the destruction of his cotton crop until his application has been approved and a permit issued by the county agents."

Must Execute Acceptances. The application for a permit to take land out of production does not relieve the producer of the requirement of executing the formal acceptance which will be sent out to individual producers.

The application also gives the secretary of agriculture the right to correct "all irregularities, imperfections, omissions and inaccuracies which may appear in the offer."

The producer is also required under terms of the permit to furnish proof of performance of his obligation to destroy the portion of his crop covered by the contract and no compensation will be sent growers until this proof has been received.

Meanwhile, tabulators continued with the task of checking contracts received from nearly 1,000,000 farmers in which they have offered to destroy approximately 10,500,000 acres of the growing crop which is expected to reduce the output this year by at least 3,500,000 bales.

MILLS NOT PROFITEERING.

INSTITUTE HEAD SAYS NEW YORK, July 18.—(UP)—George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton-Textile Institute, in a formal statement today declared himself convinced that there is nothing approaching profiteering in the cotton industry.

"Not one cotton mill in a hundred was selling its product at cost of production last March," he said. "Obviously the cotton mills throughout the country are obliged to add to their new quotations not only the increased cost due to shorter hours and higher wages under the code, just approved by the president, but an added increase in cost to stop industry-wide losses."

CICADA.

I doubt very seriously if there is a single reader of this paper that is not familiar with the cicada in one way or another. You may know it by the shrill, rasping buzz from the trees in July and August; a cry that you have known all your life as the "July-fly."

You may have seen the dry, brown cases of the recently emerged insect clinging to tree trunks in the woods; you have probably called them locust cases. You may know it as a stout-bodied, clear-winged insect sometimes seen on the sidewalk or roadside late in summer. To know all these phases is to know the cicada only partially.

The seventeen-year locust, which is not a locust at all, but a subterranean insect, is the most famous of the cicadas. This species spends a full seventeen years underground as a larva, to emerge, mate, and die within the short span of four to six weeks. The eggs are laid in the soft tissue of trees, in which the larvae hatch, bore their way out into the air, fall to the ground and dig in for a subterranean existence. While they are spending their lives burrowing through the soil, they derive their nourishment from delicate roots, tapping them and sucking ing the plant juices. At the end of seventeen full years, the cicadas emerge as adults.

The division of entomology at Washington, I understand, has charted seventeen separate broods of the cicada. Here in the south, there are species that transform in a much shorter time, such as the ten-year form.

Dr. Raymond Dilmars, in one of his recent books, tells of witnessing an emergence of a swarm of cicadas on the Palisades of the Hudson. Those of you desiring more information about the cicada will do well to read first his "Thrills of a Naturalist's Quest" (Macmillan), and then consult some textbook of entomology for more technical data. Perhaps you may even be able to find a female in the act of laying eggs. Take the twig and put it in a box, with a little soil in the bottom, and watch for the appearance of the larvae.

NEW NOTE APPEARS IN O'CONNELL HUNT

NEW YORK, July 18.—(AP)—Two ramifications of the baffling O'Connell kidnapping developed in New York today—another newspaper advertisement and a worthless tip that John J. O'Connell Jr. was being held in a liquor warehouse.

The advertisement, received by the World-Telegram from the law firm which placed coded notices naming intermediaries last week, read:

"Roma: Please get in touch with me—Manner."

Fred Roma, a minor Albany politician and owner of the Hotel Roma, there, and Manny Strowel, Albany agent for Port Orange Distributors, Inc., which handles beer, were named in the coded advertisements as men with whom the kidnappers might deal. The tip that O'Connell was being held here, believed to have come from the Albany underworld, sent police on a fruitless ransacking of four West Side buildings early in the morning, including the Phoenix Brewery, once reputedly owned by Owney Madden, Broadway racketeer.

Although the search yielded no clue, Police Captain John J. E. Appel, who directed it, remained confident that the information was reliable and that young O'Connell probably was being held some place in this vicinity.

AID OF COAST GUARD MAY BE REQUESTED

ALBANY, N. Y., July 18.—(AP)—District Attorney John P. Delaney said tonight he considered calling the United States coast guard into the search for the kidnapped John J. O'Connell Jr. in the belief that he may be held on a boat in the Hudson or St. Lawrence rivers or off the New England coast.

PLEA FOR NEW TRIAL

IS ENTERED BY BUCK BARNSTABLE, Mass., July 18.—(AP)—A plea for a new trial for Kenneth Buck, 28, of Harwichport, convicted kidnaper of Margaret C. "Peggy" McMath on May 2, was heard today by Judge Edward Hanley in Barnstable county court. The judge took the matter under advisement.

Recovery Programs

Win Elks' Support

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 18.—(AP)—The Grand Lodge of the Order of Elks today pledged itself to make vigorous efforts to restore prosperity and contentment in America. Under the new leadership of Walter F. Meier, of Seattle, elected grand exalted ruler at the national convention, the lodge threw its membership solidly behind all reconstruction measures.

Meier called attention to the fact that President Franklin D. Roosevelt is a member of the Poughkeepsie lodge and urged all Elks to "assist him in the great work of rehabilitation so that when we emerge from the uncertainty that now surrounds us our country shall continue to be that land of opportunity which it has been in the past."

Inviting the co-operation of the order in radiating optimism was Postmaster-General James A. Farley, a delegate to the convention. He brought greetings of President Roosevelt, attended a grand lodge session today, conferred with political leaders, but made no address to the convention.

Tennessean Ends Life.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 18.—(UP)—A. C. Carroll, coal dealer, shot himself to death here today after driving his car into the garage of an undertaking establishment. Despondency over ill health was blamed for the act.

ARK. BANKER GETS

THREE YEARS IN PEN

HARRISON, Ark., July 18.—(AP)—A. T. Hudspeth, one-time head of a chain of northern Arkansas banks, was sentenced today to three years' imprisonment on a charge of accepting deposits in insolvent banks after a motion to withdraw his plea of guilty had been denied.

Other charges pending against him were dismissed. The case against five other former Harrison bankers, all charged with accepting deposits in insolvent banks, also were dismissed. They were W. A. Hudspeth, a son of A. T. Hudspeth; E. Milburn, C. C. Alexander, Clere Coffman and Dan Holmes.

An oral motion to dismiss the cases against A. S. Hudspeth, a brother in Sevier county, and Roy Hudspeth, a nephew, in Marion county, was overruled.

I used to think that "Toasting" was just an advertising phrase. But one day my husband explained to me what "Toasting" is—and what it does. Where he learned it all, I don't know, but I began to understand the difference in cigarettes. Now I find myself enjoying Luckies' mildness

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

When Mary Sawyer, at 18, leaves her Millstream, Va., home to learn dress design in Hollywood, she meets Freckle Brown, a movie extra, and goes to live with her. Freckle takes her to a charity fair and the beautiful estate of Curt Little, millionaire movie producer, who recognizes her as the daughter of the man who stole his wife years before in Virginia. He determines to use Mary as the instrument of revenge and cultivates her friendship. The day after Mary meets Curt, who is 30, is prematurely gray but handsome, they are at the Cinema Club when Tom Smith shows up at Freckle's apartment and announces he is Mary's fiancé. Tom has made the trip from Virginia in an asthmatic car built from odd parts. When Mary returns at 5 o'clock in the morning, she upbraids him for following her. He leaves after a while, saying Mary can reach him at the "Y," but writes her and she asks him to call that evening. Just before he arrives, Curt phones asking her to dine with him and saying he has a surprise for her. She accepts, hoping it is the job with a designer he has mentioned. When Tommy learns Mary has stood him up, he tells Freckle he is through with her. Curt's surprise is to send her to Madame Ciesle Dumas, famous courtesier, who delights in equipping her as a model. Even Mary is surprised because of her size, but Madame Dumas explains that several of Little's movie stars are petite and she needs a model like Mary to show them her gown. What she does not tell Mary is that Curt Little is to pay her salary. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT XIII.

"Now, now, darlin'. Don't you go wearin' yourself out. I'm here—and that's all that matters."

He buried tender lips in the velvet of her little chin—then kissed her soft, feverish mouth. She looked at him out of moist eyes that pleaded for forgiveness much more eloquently than she could have said.

Tommy kissed her again—and his broad grin of complete happiness was all the answer she needed. It was such a relief that, in spite of her pain, she flashed a smile at him that was the most joyful one she had been able to summon in all the days since she thought she had lost him.

Suddenly Tommy remembered that Mary was ill and released her.

"I'll be getting the pip, or what—have myself if I don't act a little more sanitary."

Then his brow wrinkled thoughtfully.

"Honey—you got to be doctored up. You haven't been taking a bit of care of yourself. Have you got a piece of flannel?"

"What for?" Mary asked hoarsely.

"For your chest. That's what mother always did for me when I had sore throat."

"That wouldn't help—" Mary protested. "I haven't any anyway."

Tommy disappeared into the kitchenette. In a few minutes he came back with a pail.

"Hot mustard water," he explained shortly. "Put your feet in it."

When Mary shook her head violently he threw her a robe and ordered masterfully:

"Put that on and get up and stick your feet in this water—before I smack you down."

It was all so intimate—and honey. Mary laughed weakly. She loved being ordered around by Tommy.

Freckle was almost too astonished to move when she arrived home. For there was Mary sitting up in bed propped by every pillow Tommy could find. And he sat beside her, his watch in his hand, taking her pulse.

Her freckled face wrinkled into a pained grimace.

"Doctor Smith! Now isn't that a cute little picture of domestic bliss? God bless you, my children!"

Freckle insisted upon Tommy's having dinner at the apartment. He amused her beyond words to see him sitting at Mary's bedside feeding corn to her tenderly, wheeling her into swallows—despite her aversion to food, Tommy was a good nurse.

The phone rang while Freckle and Tommy were eating. Freckle dashed in to answer it. It was Curt Little. Mary's face fell when she learned who it was. Of course Tommy would have to be there and he'd get jealous again.

"Tell him I'm too hoarse to answer," she whispered to Freckle desperately.

Freckle winked understandingly.

"I'm awfully sorry, Mr. Little, but Mary is in bed with a sore throat and she can't talk very well. Is there any message? . . . I don't think it's anything serious. . . . Oh, I'm sure it isn't necessary to have a doctor, she's had these attacks before. It's just a mild case of tonsillitis. . . . Please—don't bother. . . . That's awfully sweet of you. I'll tell her."

When she hung up Tommy was standing in the doorway with a disgusted expression on his face.

"What did he say?" Mary flushed miserably and sent an appealing glance to Tommy to please understand.

"He's going to send a doctor."

Freckle tried to pass the situation off with a smile. "His physician. He says you can't take any chances. Isn't that sweet of him?"

"That's silly," Mary frowned petulantly. "Why didn't you tell him he's crazy?"

"How could I do that? You heard how insistent he was. What could I say?"

"You call him back and tell him to mind his own business. Tommy's face set stubbornly. 'I've done everything for Mary that's necessary. She's lots better. What's he buttin' in for?'

"Now listen," Freckle said placatingly. "you wouldn't want me to make Mr. Little mad and cause Mary to lose her new job, would you, Tommy? Calm yourselves. It's a good idea to have a doctor look you over, Mary. Maybe he can give you something that'll prevent another attack."

"I guess Freckle is right, Tommy, honey," Mary smiled wheedlingly. "What's one old doctor more or less in our young lives?"

"I don't care how many doctors you have! But I don't want that old millionaire actin' as if he owns you. Who the deuce does he think he is, anyway?"

They were still arguing back and forth, with Tommy furious and Mary and Freckle trying to keep peace, when the doorbell rang. Freckle went to answer it and came back with a basket so large she could hardly lug it into the room. It was filled with flowers of every description.

Mary's heart sunk to the bottom of her little feet. I don't know, it was from Curt Little. And Tommy couldn't afford to buy her a bunch of violets! He sank into a chair whitely, almost too hurt to speak, just as the doorbell rang again.

Freckle returned with a large basket of fruit. That was more than Tommy could stand. He got up savagely.

"Mary Sawyer, you send those things right back where they came from! I won't have you accepting all those expensive gifts from a strange man."

Freckle sat down heavily and put her head in her hands.

"Go on," she grinned with a hopeless shrug. "Have another fight. This kissing and making up around here is getting on my nerves. I wish you'd throw things at each other or break up the furniture—just to break the monotony."

"Tommy—dear," Mary pouted prettily. "don't be a cross old bear. You know I don't care for any man in the world but you. Not the least little bit. Please—don't scold. I'm awfully sick."

When Mary turned on her sugariest words and smiled at Tommy like that it usually melted his stony heart in a minute. But it cut him so deeply to think that another man was showing Mary with all the things he asked to give her—it was just a little more than his young heart could bear.

Freckle being there to witness his humiliation made him feel worse. He set his jaw determinedly:

"I say you've got to send those things back!"

Mary shook her head and leaned back wearily.

"No, Tommy! You mustn't ask me to humiliate Mr. Little that way. It would be childish."

"So—" Tommy waxed even more dramatic. "you refuse to do even that little thing for me. That's how much you care. I'm glad I found out in time."

"I don't want to lose my job," Mary looked as though she were going to cry. "Oh, Tommy—can't you understand? Mr. Little is just a friend. Why he's got millions and I'm sure he'd send flowers and fruit to any of his friends who were sick."

Tommy looked at the portable conservatory on the floor with disgust.

"Yeah, I suppose he robs a cemetery and buys out a whole fruit store every time one of his friends gets a little sore throat. Use your head! The old roo-ay! I'd like to break his neck."

Tommy's yellow hair stood up on top of his head like the comb of an angry rooster. His brown eyes snapped. Freckle caught her breath. She thought he was the handsomest man she'd ever seen.

Oh, if a man like Tommy would only love her that much she'd die for him! How could Mary resist his pleading? She'd send back a wagon-load of diamonds if Tommy would rage at her in such a delicious, jealous fury. But Mary shook her head, again.

"I won't send the things back, Tommy. Not for anything. You'll just have to understand."

He whirled and strode to the door. "Then—good-bye. I'm through!"

When the door banged Freckle smiled contentedly:

"Short and to the point, say I."

Mary's eyes burned with unshed tears. She set her lips to keep them from trembling—and turned her face to the wall. She didn't want Curt Little's doctor to come and find her crying. But she had to battle stubbornly to keep from breaking down.

When Freckle let Dr. Maynard in Mary had managed to control herself, but she was trembling inside and the tears were very near the surface.

He gave her a business-like smile, felt her pulse, took her temperature, and handed her a little box of pills from his bag.

"Take one of these every four hours. You'll be all right tomorrow. But don't go out before day after tomorrow morning."

It was all over in a minute and Dr. Maynard strode from the room, as suddenly and as business-like as he had come. Freckle raised her eyebrows when she came back from closing the door.

"Well! I'd like to make $50 that fast. That's about what he'll sock Curt Little for the visit."

Continued Tomorrow.

MRS. MOULTRIE HITT DIES AT WASHINGTON

Mrs. Moultrie Hitt, wife of a widely known former Atlantan, died unexpectedly Tuesday morning at her home in Washington, D. C., after a brief illness.

As the former Miss Gertrude Recker, Mrs. Hitt was a popular member of the social contingent in the capital. She had visited Atlanta on several occasions since her marriage to Mr. Hitt three years ago.

Mr. Hitt was widely known in Atlanta for many years, having been connected with the Atlanta and West Point railway. Some years ago he removed to Washington, where he is practicing international law.

Funeral services for Mrs. Hitt will be conducted Thursday in Washington. Interment will take place there.

through the schedule but to push on as soon as possible from here to Irkutsk, where there is a fine field and good repair facilities, spend the night there and leave early tomorrow morning for Khabarovsk.

At the latter point I propose to stay only long enough to refill my gas and oil and then hop off for Fairbanks.

The clouds between Novosibirsk and Moscow were denser than any I've ever seen—I rose 21,000 feet trying to get clear, but it was no use and I just had to fly by dead reckoning with the occasional assistance of radio messages from the Sverdlovsk station, which I heard pretty well, but I didn't pick up Novosibirsk until within half an hour's flight, when the sky cleared and the last hundred miles were easy.

Thousands in Potential Cash Await Farmers as Prices Rise

Potential cash, amounting to hundreds of thousands, awaits Georgia farmers under current commodity prices.

Wheat is more than twice as high as at this time last year. Wheat has doubled in value and corn is up almost 40 points.

Peaches are bringing a good price, watermelons are fair and a good crop of tobacco at high prices is forecast.

Actual comparisons of federal department of agriculture records over the week-end show that spot cotton at Atlanta a year ago was quoted at 4.95 cents, while this year it is 11.40 cents.

Last year July cotton futures in Atlanta brought 5.11 cents while this year July cotton futures were 11.44. Wheat July futures in Atlanta in 1932, as of July 14, were 49 1-8 cents and this year $1.07 1-2. Corn July futures last year were 29 7-8 cents and this year 64 1-2 cents.

Hogs and cattle comparisons are not available, but prices are generally good and inclined higher. No comparisons were available on tobacco and peanuts, but growers are optimistic and expect the future to bring more than fair returns.

Reduction of acreage and supply due to the administration's plan and to dry, hot weather, is credited by marketing officials for some of the increase. The rest is said to be due to a natural upturn which is showing itself in manufacturing and other lines of business.

Official crop predictions for the state are considerably off as compared with former years, but officials say it will mean money in the farmer's pocket, and that no lack of necessities will result.

Tobacco and fruits are the outstanding exceptions when yields are concerned, both having indicated production well above the 1932 figures. The previous year was a bad crop year, however. Raisins the latter part of June and early July improved conditions, or this year's outlook would be worse.

Never federal nor state marketing officials were able to predict actual profits to farmers as compared with other years, all saying continuation of present rising markets was necessary. On the other hand, however, no one

Georgia Leads Nation In Relative Job Gain

WASHINGTON, July 18.—(AP)—Secretaries of the United States department of commerce today announced that more than 500,000 persons found employment in the United States during June.

These figures cover only the manufacturing and 16 non-manufacturing industries, and do not take into consideration agriculture, railroads and other lines.

The statement was made in connection with the monthly report of the bureau of labor statistics which showed the largest increase in employment in more than a year.

The June figure showed a 7 per cent gain in employment as compared with May and an 11 per cent increase in pay rolls as compared with the same month.

The greatest increase in employment during the month was shown in Georgia where it was 13.2 per cent. Alabama's gain was 11.9; North Carolina, 12.7; Vermont, 11.6; Rhode Island, 10.2; Mississippi, 10 per cent.

6,000 N. C. Workers
In Strike Parade

HIGH POINT, N. C., July 18.—(AP)—Announcement of work resumption at two plants and reports of impending walkouts at two others mingled here today as striking workers celebrated with shrieking automobile horns the first anniversary of the local union, which Monday called approximately 6,000 employees from hosiery and furniture plants.

The day passed quietly. Scattered threats on the part of some workers to interfere with the celebration parade failed to materialize and several score cars, bearing placards, passed through the city's business section without molestation.

Demanding wage increases of 25 per cent, the Industrial Workers' Association claims manufacturers have broken contracts entered into following a similar shutdown last year when higher wages were promised "as soon as business will permit."

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—(AP)—Major General Charles G. Morton, U. S. A., retired, 72, veteran of three wars, died here today from blood-poisoning resulting from a Fourth of July firecracker burn.

NANCY PAGE

Mildew Is Spoiling Lois's Linen
BY FLORENCE LA GANKE.

"Warm, muggy weather is ideal for the growth of mildew." "What do you mean growth of mildew? Isn't mildew a spot or stain?"

"No, it is a fungus growth. It is hard to remove if allowed to get much headway. Sometimes it can't even be taken out.

"Its mark is a grayish spot that spreads around the places where dampness is held in a garment. Darkness and small amounts of air seem to help the growth of the fungus since it is usually found inside the rolled up and dampened garment left in the clothes basket over night for next day's ironing.

"There are some remedies which are old-time and then there are others which use our modern knowledge of chemistry.

"First, try lemon juice put on the mildewed places. Put the garment in strong sunshine.

"Second, try wetting with a paste made of equal parts of soft soap and lemon juice. Sprinkle the spot with salt and let the garment stand in the sun for a number of hours.

"You can tell that is an old-time recipe because it calls for the use of soft soap.

"Next try applying potassium permanganate, washing it out well and then apply oxalic acid solution, washing this out well, also.

"Javelle water will take out mildew if the water can be applied to cotton or linen in white. Javelle water bleaches colors and yellows silks. It must be well rinsed after using."

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

An Unusual Result.

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Dr. C. E. Moyer, of East Palestine, Ohio, seems to have an unusual facility for holding unusual hands at the Bridge table. As judge of a series of contests held by a nationally-known magazine, I have had the opportunity to award several prizes to him for extraordinary hands and extraordinary results obtained on the ordinary ones. The hand below, in which Dr. Moyer sat South, resulted in an unusual contract and had its final denouement in a rather interesting squeeze.

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding: (Figures after bids refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
2♠ (1)	2♦	Pass	Pass
3♦ (2)	Pass	3♥	Pass
4♦ (3)	Pass	4NT	Pass
7♦ (4)	Pass	Pass	Pass

The following notes on the bidding, which, needless to say, did not meet with my full approval, are by Dr. Moyer:

1—Wishing to force partner and keep the bidding as low as possible, I chose this bid instead of two spades, so he could respond with two of any other suit. The deception could do no harm here.

2—Evidently partner doesn't hold much. I'll make him say something this time.

3—He must have at least five hearts to the King to have a biddable suit. That should mean a Small Slam at notrump. If he rebids hearts, showing more than five, I can then bid a Grand Slam.

4—It was now to be inferred that my partner held nothing showable except his hearts and that West had the balance of honor strength. Twelve tricks should be taken at either notrump or spades, with no probability of being able to squeeze out the thirteenth. With honors the same, notrump would be the choice. But how about a heart contract? The same tricks should be taken, and in addition it seemed certain that West could be squeezed between my suit honors and partner's trump for the thirteenth trick. I determined to forego the honors and the Small Slam bonus and try for the Grand Slam. This would probably give us either a top or bottom score, according to the outcome. My partner was a careful player and I was confident he would work out the squeeze if it was there.

In the play East opened the singleton diamond in response to partner's bid, the Ace in Dummy won and four rounds of trumps were played, the club 2 being discarded on the fourth round. Then followed four rounds of spades, the Declarer discarding a diamond and a club. Just before the fifth spade was led, the situation was as follows:

N W E S
10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
K Q J 10

It will be noted that West, although holding two King-Queen combinations, was perfectly helpless to avert the squeeze. He had to discard either a club or a diamond, and in either event the Declarer must take the remaining tricks and realize his contract.

TOMORROW'S HAND.
How should South bid the hand below to prevent the partnership from reaching a Slam contract? South, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

Nothing's Wrong With The Kids.....It's Us

By Wood Burns

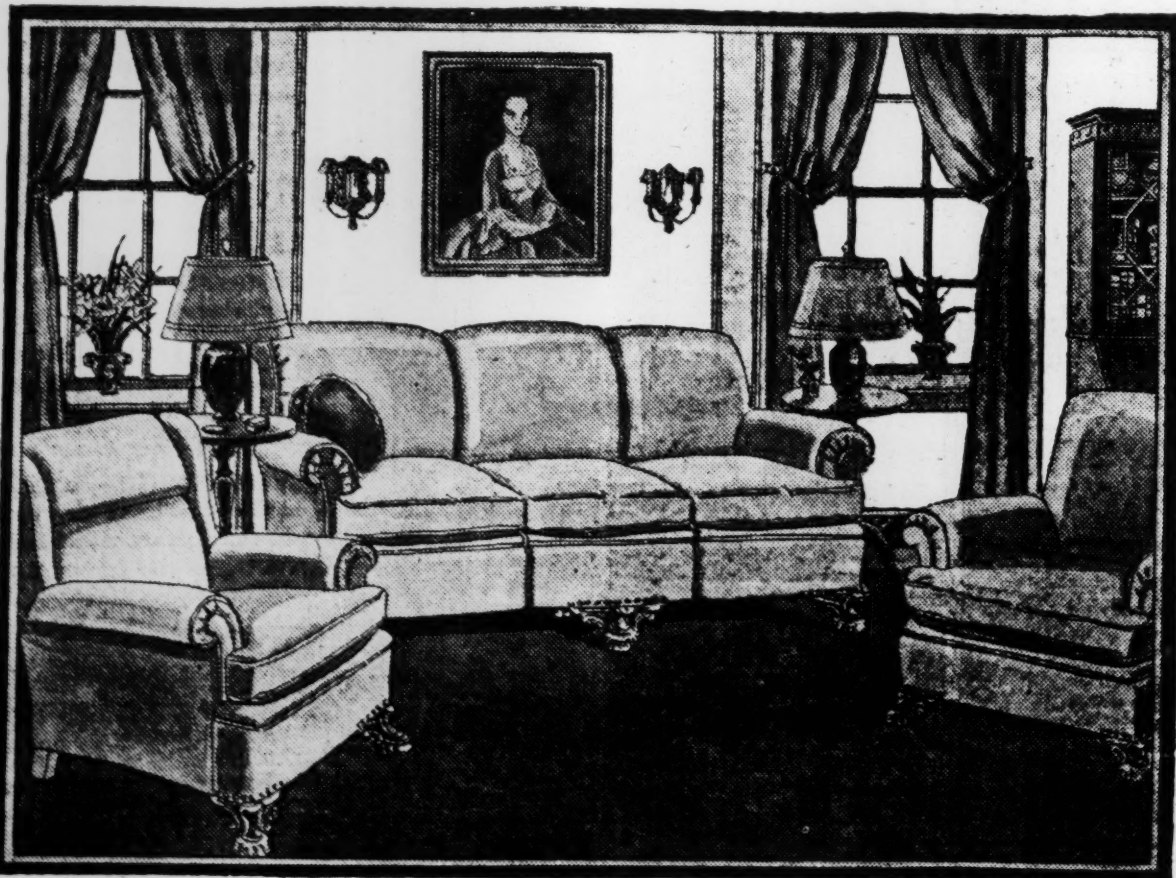

The ole gag 'bout "the youth of today" bein' so all-fired out o' joint with the rest o' the world is jes so much hokum—the trouble's not with the kids, it's with us.

When you and I was "coming up" there was fewer young folks, civilization was not so complicated and there was fewer temptations—we enjoyed Sunday school picnics, pound suppers, and other harmless gatherings—

Now there are more young folks, more places to go, more things to see and do—I doubt if you an' I could've stood the same test then that our kids are standin' now an' come out a whit better than they.

We fuss 'bout the kids "not lovin' the home"—well, what're we doin' about it?—almost nothing.

For a small outlay of cash—or on terms easy to meet—you can visit any of Atlanta's leading Furniture and Home Furnishings establishments and select just the things that will make your home attractive, cozy and inviting to your children and their friends.

Young Jim Bagby Fans 16 and Allows Two Hits to Win Title

TERRORS TAKE CHAMPIONSHIP OF NORTH SIDE

Great Hurling by Youth Gives Mates Game by 9 to 0.

Jim Bagby Jr., son of the famous "Sergeant" Jim Bagby, hero of the 1920 Cleveland world's championship team and later a pitcher for the Crickets in 1925, proved himself a chip off the old block yesterday when he pitched the Terrors to the North Side sandlot championship by beating the Rebels, 9 to 0.

Young Bagby, ace of the North Side Terrors, struck out 16 men and allowed but two hits.

The victory won for the Terrors the right to play the winner of the South Side league for the city championship, the winner to represent Atlanta in the state tournament at Macon.

Bagby closed out the game in a burst of brilliance, striking out three batters in the ninth.

Batting stars of the game were Malone, who got three hits in four times up for the Terrors, and Crockett, who had four for the Rebels.

In other games, the Wildcats defeated Chocomaud, 14-5, and the Cardinals won over the Rebels, 10-7.

Today's games:

Equipoise to Carry 135 Pounds in Race

CHICAGO, July 18.—(AP)—Equipoise, C. V. Whitney's great galloper, will have to give away 10 pounds to Norman Church's Gallant Sir, if he goes to the post in the $10,000 added Arlington handicap Saturday.

The eastern 5-year-old today was assessed 135 pounds by Secretary Joseph McLannan. Gallant Sir will be asked to pick up 125 pounds, with his stablemate, Plucky Play, getting in a pound lighter. Dark Secret and Larama are down, for 118 pounds. Inlander, the surprise winner of the Arlington classic last Saturday, gets in at 108 pounds.

THE SPORTLIGHT

The Long Hike.

In England's picked team through the next few days, the Davis cup entries from the United States come to what should be the next stop to the last of the longest hike in sport.

In the last three years Vines, Allison, Van Ryn and Lott have traveled through a playing schedule of more than 75,000 miles to be ready for this last drive on the celebrated tennis bowl that has now become one of the classic emblems of sport. This is the greatest of all international shows, outside of the Olympic games.

Of the 20 or more competing nations, only three remain and there will be only two survivors by Friday or Saturday night when the United States and England decide which group will move on against the French who have defended the trophy for six years.

Vines and Allison look to be strong enough to take three singles matches against Perry and Austin.

Van Ryn and Lott have at least an even chance against Perry and Hughes.

But there is nothing to be gained in underating a strong English team which can play its share of tennis and can put up its full share of fight.

The odds belong to the United States—but they are not overwhelming odds—especially on a European court where all the sympathy will be thrown to the lion against the eagle.

The United States has taken a gamble in saving Allison, Van Ryn and Lott from the hard competition of the last few weeks. This may work out well—and it may run into a snag.

The entire English side has been under heavy fire for some time. If it isn't stale, this competition may develop a keener edge than most of the members of the United States team will have.

Bill Tilden has always favored all competition one can take on to be ready for a competition of this sort.

"I like to see them what I call 'tournament tough,'" he said one day. "That means building up under fire." The answer will be given in the next day or so.

Kings of Speed and Stamina. The 1,500-meter race and the mile race are the greatest distances on the track.

They call for a combination of both speed and stamina, which is the greatest of all tests.

And in this connection it might be noted that kings of both distances come far away from the United States.

Beccali, of Italy, has run the fastest 1,500-meter race ever known. He put this act through during the Olympic games when his speed beat 3:50 for the time.

The greatest mile is Lovelock, from New Zealand, a long way from the home of the Stars and Stripes.

The United States has two great possibilities in Bontrouth, of Princeton, and Cunningham, from the west—but they have yet to prove they can travel with Beccali and Lovelock from 100 up through the 400 meters.

Fights Tonight

PAUL MARTIN.

MARTIN MEETS MILLER TONIGHT

Paul "Speedy" Martin tonight will meet Frankie Miller, of Charlotte, at the Cain Street arena.

Martin was scheduled to meet Mike Dundee, but Matchmaker Gilbert was informed yesterday that Dundee was under suspension of the national boxing commission and the Atlanta boxing commission, being affiliated with the N. B. A., was forced to halt the match.

Dundee has been in Atlanta training hard and was surprised to find he had been suspended for infraction of some minor rule, but will immediately seek reinstatement.

Being informed of Dundee's misfortune, Matchmaker Gilbert immediately sent out wires endeavoring to go forward with his show and was successful in contacting Frankie Miller, who was traveling from Columbus en route to Miami, where he is signed to fight the latter part of this month. Miller recently won a decision over Benny Calloway, the Marion leather pusher, and from all reports Martin will have his hands full tonight.

In the semi-final, Buddy Westmoreland, another Atlanta favorite, clashes with Weldon Newsome, of Marietta. Newsome startled fight fans recently when he hung a kayo on Battling Maddox. It was the first time Maddox has ever been knocked out. Atlanta fans are looking forward to see Newsome sling gloves with the local pride over the eight-round route.

A strong preliminary card will support the main bout.

LENORE KIGHT LOOMS AS NEW SWIM CHAMPION

Homestead, Pa., Star Menaces Marks of Helene Madison.

NEW YORK, July 18.—(UP)—When Helene Madison deserted the amateur field the swimming world said there'd never be another like her, that years and years from now the records the Seattle Amazon wrote into the books with her fluid arms and legs still would be in the record books.

It was less than a year ago that Miss Madison doffed the silk of the tank suit for the satin and ruffles of the movie lots, yet already the experts have their eyes on a girl they believe is destined not only to erase Miss Madison's marks but leave imperishable ones of her own.

The girl is Lenore Kight, of Homestead, Pa. If you doubt her class, just dig into the newspaper files of the last Olympic games and read the description of the 400-meter final. In that race the slight Pennsylvania girl outswam her famed rival on every straightaway, but was beaten by Miss Madison's tremendous push-off at the turns. When they finished their heads were even, but the Seattle girl's arms were longer, and so her fingers touched first.

So, you see, all that Miss Madison had on Miss Kight a year ago was strength. The Seattle girl was 5 feet 10-1/2 inches tall and weighed 160 pounds, to Miss Kight's 5 feet 2-1/2 inches and 125 pounds. Her coach, Jack Scarry, who is here to coach her in the national championships which start at Jones' Beach, Long Island, Thursday, believes Miss Kight soon will have the strength to enable her to clip Miss Madison's records.

"She hasn't reached her peak," Scarry said today. "She's just 20, you know, and as her goal is the 1936 Olympics, I don't want her to reach her peak too soon. Within the next year Lenore should have cracked several of Madison's marks."

Second round matches will be played Thursday with the finals in the second and third flight on Friday and the finals in the championship and consolation flight next week.

Newspapermen will not play today, giving the course over for regular club play.

The results:
CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT.
Larry Caudill beat Linton Hopkins, 1 up.
Johnson Sr. won by default from F. Kiefer.

SECOND FLIGHT.

WANTED HIM.
Coolness under fire is a cardinal principle of being a good relief pitcher and judging from the commendable performance of Carlos Moore against the clubbing Nashville Vols in their own little back yard Monday night, the tall right-hander is not wanting in that kind of fortitude.

It was Carlos' first victory since joining the Atlanta club, although he rather distinguished himself here in the Chattanooga series by finishing up three straight games against the Lookouts in first rate style.

Relieving the hard-working Jack Atz in the ninth, Moore found himself the crux of a situation in the tenth when the Vols loaded the bases with one out. Instead of blowing up, he bore down to strike out Pitcher Reid—a good little hitter—and forced "Benny" Frey, the young shortstop, to lift up a fly.

In the eleventh, the Vols again made a move for the game when two men walked with only one out. Ordinarily such procedure finishes a relief pitcher, but one reads that Moore again turned on the heat and fanned Bill Roda and Manager Dreesen, a couple of dangerous hitters.

A DOUBLE KICK.
Those victories over Nashville came rarely enough for Atlanta and that of Moore's carried a double kick.

It is a bit of a mystery why Carlos Moore hasn't been a winning pitcher in this league all the while. Gifted with every assortment of stuff, including a wonderful fast ball, a curve and an effective change of pace, he has what is technically known as "everything." Yet he has not been up among the leaders, although he was well on the way to a fine season last year when an attack of appendicitis put him out of commission just as he struck a winning stride. He had 10 wins and 11 losses at the time.

Moore is still young enough, however, to get to the top. He is under 25 years of age and has been pitching only a matter of five or six years. He showed enough stuff with Birmingham in 1929—his first year in the Southern—to warrant his sale to Washington for $25,000. All the critics thought then that he was a good bet to stick in the majors. But pitching a game on a frigid day in early spring, he hurt his arm and drifted around in the National League.

In Remarkable Round

PLANDOME, N. Y., July 18.—(AP)—A remarkable scoring round by Miss Helen Hicks, former national champion, featured the qualifying round of the fourth annual New York state women's championship played at the Plandome Golf Club today. Miss Hicks rounded the 6,300-yard tree-lined course in 72 strokes to come within a stroke of equalling the men's record held jointly by Frank Graven, the club champion, and Bill Mehlhorn.

The score which equaled par gave her the medal by eight shots, her closest competitor being Mrs. Leo Federman, who had an 80. Miss Peggy Wattles, of Buffalo, the defending champion, qualified with an 87 which tied her for eighth place with Mrs. Marion Turpie-Lake, former southern champion.

Miss Hicks made only two mistakes in her round which had four birdies in it. One of these came on the eleventh where she made a stroke of equaling the men's record when she hit a bunker. The other came on the finishing hole where, with a chance to break the men's record by getting a birdie 3, she looked up on her approach shot and fluffed it.

play, Perry was pronounced fit by his physician before leaving London today.

"My shoulder now is quite sound," Perry said. "I intend to start practice as soon as I reach Paris."

The French believe that Austin will be the underdog against both Ellsworth Vines, American champion, and Wilmer Allison, second singles player, making it necessary for Perry to beat both and help further with a doubles conquest of George Lott and John Van Ryn if Britain is to gain the challenge round.

Vines today concentrated on his service in practice, acclimating his fast ball to the soft Roland Garros courts, a complete change from the hard surface of Wimbledon, where he last played. Vernon S. Prentice, captain of the squad, kept all from serious work.

Lott amused himself banging hard shots against the backwall.

NEW YORK, July 18.—(P)—Stocks stormed through a wild market today. They emerged with a net gain, which meant a high for the composite, but on the bumpy. Sales totaled 6,905,793.

Grains also were hard to pin down. Reports of prospective competition from Argentina at prices which would undersell American levels caused high. It finished around a cent and a half higher, but the market held the fort.

Stocks began the day with a large plunge in which blocks of 30,000 shares. Extension of gains to 4 points were well tempered by profit-taking before noon, but the market then turned a bit.

Mining Issues Gain.
Mining issues came forward with a rush in the afternoon, replacing the "repeals" which found the going heavy.

Gold equities came into prominence when brokerage houses heard rumors that the government was considering establishment of a free market for the metal, a report often circulated in the last month or so. There was no confirmation during market hours, but McIntyre, Alaska Juneau and Dome jumped 3 1/2 to nearly 6. Home-Elsworth, Shreve performers included Hershey, Devoe and Reynolds.

Wet Stocks Falter.
Commercial Alcohol, United States Industrial Alcohol and National Distillers lost around 3. Standard Brands had an enormous turnover, finishing at a point higher. Net gains for United States Steel, American Telephone, Bethlehem, American General, Westinghouse and General Motors ranged from small fractions to more than a point.

Dollar Weakness Attracted Attention.
The British pound and the French franc went to ground and the dollar advanced in particular as it approached the old gold price.

Statistics on the number of shorter working hours at higher wages of 40 did the increase of 7 and 10.8 percent, respectively, in June employment and factory payrolls reported by the federal labor department.

Railroad News Rather Prominent.
Compiling work rather prominent for several systems last week. Results of a very favorable June re-peat and Ohio. The former had net operating income of $2,130,000, but the latter $3,200,000 a year ago, $1,772,260, thus giving the June results a good start.

TARZAN THE APE MAN No. 99

"You'll fall!" cried Jean as she saw Tarzan's grip on the tree limb slipping. Her words ended in a shriek as the ape-man righted himself, rose to a standing position on the high branch, and dove into the pool, where he disappeared.

Jean, almost in tears as she ran down the bank toward the pool, exclaimed: "His head!" She looked about the pool but saw no signs of the ape-man. With growing anxiety she called: "Tarzan! Please come up!" Still no indication of him, she started into the water, half-sobbing: "You'll drown!"

While she was speaking, Tarzan's arm shot out of the water, grabbed one of her ankles and jerked her neatly in. A moment later he came up laughing. Jean came up, spluttering, beside him. He supported her easily in the water. She was indignant and ridiculously dignified.

"That was charming!" she said, when she could get her breath. "You're just a nasty little schoolboy!" "Boy!" answered Tarzan, promptly ducking her. Jean, clinging to his arm as he came up, cried: "Stop it!" Then, as he held her too close, "Let me go!"

There we stop somewhat abruptly.

An Englishman, an Italian and a New Zealander have set us new targets from 800 meters through the mile, where stamina counts as well as speed.

The remarkable pitching performance of Hubbell, Schumacher, Fitzpatrick and Earnshaw—the big four of the Giants—recall another brilliant quartet that operated upon the enemy more than 30 years ago.

They belonged to the Pirates and their names were Sam Leever, Deacon Phillippe, Jack Chesbro and Jess Tannehill.

This big four set an all-time record, as far as I can recall the vital statistics. They blanked hostile bats in 56 consecutive innings—a matter of more than six full ball games before a run slipped past their barricade.

All four belonged to the upper crest of pitching. And they had quite a ball club to work with, including Honus Wagner, Fred Clarke, Tommy Leach and a few more still remembered by old-time fans.

As the case stands today the big four of the Giants have put on one of the most remarkable pitching campaigns of the last 20 years.

In addition to 15 or more shut-outs, they have turned in any number of one and two-run games. With a little luster batting support, the Giants' lead today would be a runaway.

Clubs and Cardinals have drawn good pitching, but nothing to approach the phenomenal showing of Bill Terry's riflemen who have kept their murderous sniping since mid-April.

2 Trainmen Killed As Boiler Explodes

OMAHA, Neb., July 18.—(AP)—The engineer and fireman on the Burlington railroad's crack train, the Ak-Sar-Ben, were killed and a Union station porter seriously hurt tonight when the boiler of the locomotive pulling the train blew up under a viaduct near the Union station here. Several others were reported hurt, none seriously.

The train, en route from Lincoln to Chicago, was pulling into the covered arwayway connecting the Union and Burlington stations when the explosion occurred. The arwayway was almost cut in two as the force of the blast sent the boiler of the locomotive 25 feet in the air.

The dead were Charles E. Utter, Creton, engineer, and K. Z. Zimmerman, Lincoln, Neb., the fireman.

By RGT. SGT. MAJOR "RED" MILLER.

FORT McCLELLAN, Ala., July 18.—Favored with overhanging clouds which kept off the usual hot rays of sun, more than fourteen hundred Georgians of the 122d infantry started Monday morning on the annual two weeks' encampment. At 5:30 a. m. the regiment assembled on the parade ground and indulged in 15 minutes of setting up exercises, unlimbering the squeaky joints and many of them getting their first taste of army life. Colonel Thomas L. Alexander, Tech High faculty member, and the new commanding officer of the regiment, beamed with pride as company officers reported full strength outfits and no traces of illness or sore feet after the trek into camp Sunday afternoon.

A corps of regular army officers are on hand to suggest and observe the strenuous schedule this year. Captain Alex Cunningham, new instructor assigned to the Atlanta regiment, was in camp Monday morning and started his rounds of inspections, schools and lectures. Captain Cunningham formerly was football coach at the University of Georgia and until recently was on duty with C. C. C. activities in South Carolina.

Major E. H. Greene, head of the medical corps and prominent Atlanta surgeon, spent Monday with his assistants in seeing that strictest sanitary regulations are put into effect. For several weeks a civilian conservation group has been billeted in the reservation and the camp area is in perfect shape. Streams and still bodies of water on the reservation have been practically riden of mosquitoes, while weeds and undergrowth have been carefully taken out, adding much to the rugged beauty of the camp site which sits nestled between ranges of the Choctaw mountains.

In addition to having a new commanding officer this year, the election of Colonel Alexander left a line of vacancies which have for the most part been filled through promotions. Lieutenant Colonel Sion B. Hawkins is executive officer this year. Vice Lieutenant Colonel McIntosh Burns is now in the regiment. Major E. P. Tuttle succeeded to the post of plans and training officer with the promotion of Colonel Hawkins.

Major Tuttle was head of the Lawyers' Club of Atlanta last year and until recently was adjutant of the regiment. Captain L. M. Mattox, formerly regimental supply officer, has been designated as adjutant. Another promotion in the Atlanta outfit is that of Major W. B. Elliott Jr., formerly a company commander who succeeded Colonel Alexander when the riotous military subjects and the customary matter of getting "orientated."

Tuesday brought another program similar to Monday's, with formal guard mounting at 4 p. m. and the usual daily regimental parade at 5 o'clock. A strenuous march at night to demonstrate troop movements and the business of getting into "attack positions" under cover of darkness will be a feature of this week's schedule.

Monday's program was principally one of extended order drill, classes in equitation by officers, lectures on va-

The training camp opened Saturday with men from Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana who began to arrive by train, buses and cars. They were met at the railway station by army details and after transfer to camp were put through "processing" details, registration and assignment, physical examina-
